

SHORT BIOGRAPHY

Ragnar Meitern is a Director of Citigroup Investment Banking team responsible for investment banking coverage, including mergers & acquisitions and equity capital markets origination and execution for the Middle East region with industry focus including telecommunications, real estate and consumer/retail.

Ragnar joined the firm in 1996 as a Financial Analyst at Salomon Brothers Global Mergers & Acquisitions team in New York. From 1998-2000 Ragnar worked as an Investment Manager for New York based private equity firm, Stanton Capital Corporation, focused on investments in emerging markets. In 2000, Ragnar re-joined the firm in London office, initially focusing on European TMT sector and subsequently in Central and Eastern Europe, Middle East and Africa (CEEMEA) region with a focus on telecoms clients. In June 2006, Ragnar moved to Dubai to assume investment banking coverage responsibilities for the Middle East region.

Ragnar graduated from Rutgers University in the United States with Bachelor of Science in Finance and minor in Economics.